

END OF A LONG LIFE.

Mr. John N. Murrell, One of the Best Known Men in Adair County, Crosses the Divide.

MANY FRIENDS TAKE THE LAST LOOK.

Saturday afternoon at 6:30 o'clock the earthly pilgrimage of Mr. John N. Murrell peacefully ended at his country home, near Columbia. The deceased was the first born of Nathan and Margaret Murrell, his whole life being spent near this place, and when the final dissolution came he lacked only five days of being eighty-one years old, having been born the 4th of April, 1831, his death occurring March 30, 1912.

He is survived by his only daughter, Mrs. C. S. Harris, ten grandchildren and a number of relatives, his wife having died about twelve years ago. His passing removed the last member of his parents family, a sister, Mrs. Kate Smith, having died about four weeks ago.

The deceased was a man of strong character, and was universally known as a man who was positive in his declarations. In other words he was not a changeling. He read much in order to keep up with the times, and he invariably expressed himself on all public questions; and a position once taken was not removed. He stood for what he believed to be right, and was on the side of the godly in each and every instance. He was a constant reader of the Bible and Sacred history, and could quote much Scripture. He was a regular attendant at church, and closely followed the pastor in his discourses—able to relate the main points at the close of each sermon.

When quite a young man he made a profession of his faith in Christ, united with the Presbyterian Church, remaining a zealous and useful member until the end. He loved his Church and he met his obligations to it. He died a ruling Elder, a position he had acceptably filled for many years.

He lived on the farm where he died for more than sixty-five years, and was known throughout the surrounding country as a high-toned gentleman and a very accommodating neighbor, one who will be greatly missed not only by those who were near and dear to him by the ties of blood, but by the entire community.

In testimony of the high esteem in which he was held, hundreds of people assembled at the residence Sunday afternoon to hear Rev. J. R. Crawford, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, pay tribute, reciting the many noble traits of character of this good man.

The deceased was as well known in Columbia as any man who resides in town, and a very large circle of townspeople attended the sad rites. During the afternoon of the burial, it would be a difficult matter to tell the number of person who gave testimony of his Christian character and his great worth to the community. He fought a long and good fight; he finished at the portals, entered in at the straight gate to remain for evermore, and to be ready to welcome those who are to come after him.

His passing brought much general sorrow, and the world was made poorer. Peace to his honorable memory.

At a meeting of the session of the Presbyterian church, held, this the 1st day of April, 1912, the following paper was adopted.

Our brother, John N. Murrell, departed this life at his home near Columbia, Saturday evening, March 30th, 1912.

He came to his grave "in a full age, like as a shock of corn cometh in his season," being at the time of his death within a few days of eighty-one years old.

He had been a member of this church from his early youth, and for more than forty years had served it as one of the board of elders. He lived a faithful, consistent, consecrated Christian life, and left behind him an honored name, and an example of righteous living, as a citizen, and a church member, worthy of emulation. In view of his life, so simple in its modesty, so pure in its purposes and actions and strong in its faith in God, we can confidently say of him, now he has gone from us:

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them."

Resolved, that realizing our own loss in his death, we tender to his daughter and the other members of his family, our sincere sympathy in their bereavement.

Resolved, That this testimonial be spread upon a page of the record book of the session as a memorial of the deceased.

Died in Kansas.

James D. Royle, for more than 20 years one of the best known citizens of this section, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Thos. F. Templeman, at Pratt, Kansas, Tuesday, March 19th, of heart disease following Asthma aged 75 years, 11 months and 2 days.

Mr. Royle was born in Adair county, Kentucky, April 17th., 1836 and the earlier part of his life was spent in that section. It was there that he married and lived until about 25 years ago when he came to Missouri and settled in Carroll county, where he has since been one of our best citizens.

About four years ago, his wife died and since that time he has made his home with his children, spending a part of the time with a son, at Coalgate, Oklahoma, and with his son, H. S. Royle, north of Norborne. Several months ago he went to Pratt, Kansas, to spend the winter with his daughter, Mrs. Dollie Templeman. He had been away from the Templeman home for several days and returned Monday evening between five and six o'clock but Mr. and Mrs. Templeman were not at home. On their return home about 10 o'clock Monday night he was lying on the porch in an unconscious condition. He was carried into the house and put in bed and a physician summoned. However he was past medical aid and died at six o'clock Tuesday morning, having been ill no more than 12 hours.

He is survived by four sons and one daughter, also by a sister, Mrs. Mary Ann Conover and by a brother, Solomon Royle, both of Kentucky.

Mr. Royle was a good citizen, a kind and indulgent father and a devoted husband. He had many friends here who will learn with sincere regret of his death.

The body was brought to Norborne, Thursday, and taken thence to Antioch Church Cemetery where he was laid to rest to await the resurrection.—Norborne, Mo., paper.

Before Supreme Court.

Washington, March 30.—(Special to the Courier-Journal).—To represent the State of Kentucky in the argument to be made Monday before the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of the Louisville & Nashville railroad against Siler, in which the constitutionality of the McChord act is attacked by the railroad, Attorney General James Garnett and E. W. Hines, of Louisville, arrived in Washington to-day. Mr. Hines, who is a special attorney in this case, will open the argument for the State, and Attorney General Garnett will close. Col. Henry L. Stone, of Louisville, is expected to speak for the railroad.

The case here is an appeal from a decision of the Federal Court of the Frankfort district in which decision the lower court held against the railroad when the railroad sought an injunction to restrain the Kentucky Railroad Commission from enforcing an order reducing the intrastate rates on certain commodities.

Notice Stock Men.

Men of Adair and adjoining counties, I have this spring, one horse, Red Bird, Jr., which is a sure enough Red Bird. He is more like his great sire than any known horse. He surpasses old Red Bird in size, color and model. I will say without fear of being truthfully contradicted, he is the best model horse in Central Kentucky. As to his pedigree, Messrs. Rufus Bailey, Henry Henson, T. T. Tupman and John W. Watson, who know of him, say there are none better in this country. I can refer you to a number of patrons last spring who said that $100 would not buy their colts when first on their feet. Come and see him and be convinced of a truth.

Improving.

Lebanon, Ky., March, 30 1912. The Adair County News.

For the benefit of the many friends of Mr. Arthur Rupe, I wish to announce through your paper, his improvement. He stood the trip from Breeding to the Hospital at Lebanon well, but had an attack of Peritonitis afterwards, which was very much to his disadvantage, yet now am glad to state, he is rapidly recovering, and I truly hope to send him home soon fully restored to health.

Patteson & Denney.

Spence Dabney.

During the early part of the eighties there appeared at Albany, Ky., an old man who seemed to have passed his three score and ten. Though bowed with the weight of years, he was still a man of striking appearance, and would have attracted attention in a crowd of several hundred men. Large and well proportioned, with an enormous head that claimed but little trimmings and that around the border. With none of that self-important, big and little U manner. He was mild and modest as a maiden—not loud or vulgar—he possessed that old-fashioned, winning politeness devoid of effort or affectation, like a gray-haired drummer we wot of who passes our way, whose manner captivates on first sight. After the lapse of many years he had returned to the old stamping ground to finish the battle of life where he had begun it nearly half a century before. He had been a journeyman saddler the greater part of his life—had drifted to Cincinnati, where he was one of the first drummers sent out from that city, also filled some minor city office which he afterwards claimed he filled with much dignity and very little ability. He had rented a small room on the South side of the town, and was running a sadlery on a small scale. After hearing that Spence Dabney was in town, I was anxious to see the man of whom I had heard so much—was introduced to him as Tom Jones, the dentist, and of course he had "heard" of me as a skillful tooth carpenter, and knew that I ought to have a spring-seated gentleman's saddle of the kind he was making, and in a persuasive manner gave a lecture on their superior qualities. I had heard and read Dabney's yarns written for the Cincinnati Enquirer by Senator Bradley, and in the Courier Journal by Savoyard, both of whom claimed that Spence Dabney was the finest story teller they had ever known. He remarked that Tom seemed to be a favorite name with the Jones families, to which I replied that my friend, Billy Winfrey said they named all their boys Tom. He then said the first Tom Jones he remembered was an evangelist in the mountains of Tennessee, where he was born, who was a great revivalist. During one of those meetings at an old church, in a sparsely settled part called the wilderness, which Bro. Jones was conducting, a tough citizen called Mose Brown was attending, and one night during the rousings before dismissal a large black snake was thrown in at the window, alighting on some good old sisters who were enjoying an old-fashioned rejoicing, causing some of them to swoon, others cried: "Snakes," while all made a rush for the door, which was barred for the occasion. Lights were extinguished, and they came tumbling over each other through the window. Some thought it a real snake, while others believed it was the Satanic Majesty turned loose. On the following morning the brethren were up in arms searching for Mose Brown, who had gone leaving many dry faces; gone like Jim Smith's cow and calf when he bowed his head to cogitate a thought and condense an idea, and raised it to find the cow and the calf had evaporated spontaneously, and left no trace resolvable. Several years had elapsed when Moses like the prodigal son, repented and was wending his way homeward—had been converted, and like "Uncle Gundy" with a letter from the church, when accused of acting disorderly replied; "I'll let you know sir I've got my ligan in black and white." So Moses with his religion in his pocket aimed to break the news gently to Bro. Jones, who was at that time engaged in another great revival in the wilderness. At night service Moses entered quietly beseeching himself in a remote corner. After some solemn hymns had ended Bro. Jones arose, and in the same impressive manner read; "As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so shall" When Moses was standing erect and with tearful face and faltering voice exclaimed; "Bro. Jones, please don't raise that old snake tale no more, then related his wonderful experience, presented his letter, was that night received into full fellowship and ever afterward maintained that the snake was the providential means of his conversion.

Dabney was a very poor man most of the time, but it was said that he would sometimes yield to King Solomon's injunction when he wrote; "Let him drink and forget his poverty and remember his misery no more," although we never heard that he violated a law of his country by carrying a little of this remedy to his invalid wife or sick child in a dry territory for Dabney was a lonely man. King Solomon may have done so as he was a married man and we presume had more or less (probably more) sickness in his family, but Solomon would be a back number now, not up to the present date as some twenty-nine hundred brief Summers have flown since he passed away, and perhaps was never permitted to behold the face of a good local optionist or a pious bootlegger. We believe Dabney died at Albany two or three years after this, and thus passed out one of the finest humorists this county has ever produced—something which many attempt but in which few succeed.

The April Woman's Home Companion.

Kathleen Norris, who became famous as the author of "Mother," begins a new serial novel in the April woman's Home Companion. It is a love story laid in California. Other fiction is contributed by Mary Stewart Cutting, Carolyn Wells, Mary E. Wilkins Freeman and Mary Hastings Bradley.

Among articles of note in the April Companion are the following: An autobiographical chapter by Howard Pyle, the great American artist; an account full of personal details of the life of Germany's present Crown Princess Cecilie, who is twenty-five years old and the mother of four children; "Making the Most of Moving Pictures," an account of the moving-picture business as an educational factor; "Getting Rid of the House Fly;" "Good Health a Business Asset," in which the author gives much practical advice, particularly to women who work in business; and an Easter talk by the pastor of the Broadway Tabernacle in New York City.

The regular household, fashion and home decoration departments are filled with new, interesting facts and suggestion.

Mrs. Sarah Turpen Dead.

Mrs. Sarah Turpen, who was the widow of the late John Turpen, died at the home of Mrs. Fanny Walker, this city, last Thursday morning. She was sixty-four years old and was sick but a short time, a victim of a rising in her head. If we are correctly informed, she was a native of Tennessee, but had lived in Columbia for many years. Her husband died about eight years ago. The remains were interred in the city cemetery Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Notwithstanding she lived here many years, she was personally known to but few people, as it was a rare occurrence to see her away from her home. She had been at Mrs. Walker's but a few weeks, going there when Mr. Forth and "Uncle" Solomon Turpen removed to the country.

Death of a Well-Known Young Man.

Mr. W. Godfrey Hunter, who was a son of former Congressman W. G. Hunter, died in Washington, D. C. last week, a victim of rheumatism of the heart. He was born in Burkesville, his mother before her marriage, being Miss Sue Alexander, a sister of Mr. W. F. and Mr. Horace Alexander. The deceased was thirty-two years old, and he had seen much of the world. When quite a young man he often visited at this place, and he is remembered by a number of Columbians. His parents were with him when the end came. His remains were brought to Louisville and interred in Cave Hill. Besides his parents, he leaves one brother, Mr. W. A. Hunter, traveling salesman, who makes this place often.

Convention Next Saturday.

Next Saturday Republicans of Adair county will meet in the court-house, in Columbia, and will select delegates to attend the district convention which meets at Corbin on the 9th. At the Corbin convention delegates will be named to attend the State Convention which will meet in the city of Louisville for the purpose of selecting four delegates and four alternates from the State at large to attend the Chicago Convention. The meeting here next Saturday, promises to be very interesting. The county is claimed by both the Taft and the Roosevelt followers, and it all depends upon management in organizing the convention.

Mr. Harlan Shaw, of this place, has accepted a position with the Louisville Stove and Tinware Co., and he is now on the road. He was in the city last week, contracted with the firm, and was assigned Adair, Green, Taylor, Casey, Russell, Cumberland, and Metcalfe counties. Dr. Mary Walker.

Dr. Mary Walker, whose serious illness is reported from New York, is a prominent citizen of America, whose distinction, according to the late "Bill" Nye, is that she is the only prominent American who was not a poor boy. Dr. Walker has attracted attention chiefly by wearing masculine attire. Dress reform has been her hobby. There would be little difficulty in bringing about such dress reform it were not that "breeches" are less attractive than skirts. The garb worn by men is not at all picturesque. It allows little latitude for individual taste, and is not especially decorative. A woman who is young and pretty and saucily attired in a suit of clothes such as a man wears, attracts favorable attention because she is a novelty, but if all women were dressed like men they would lose so much in looks that the convenience of their clothes in rainy weather and for out-of-door exercise would not make up for the loss. That, and not because skirts are more modest than trousers, is the reason for the failure of Dr. Mary Walker to popularize "pants."

Her life work has been in vain. So will that of any other woman who takes it up. Dr. Walker has won distinction as a physician, but few persons have paid any attention to her attainments as a professional woman. Her trousers have attracted too much attention. The result is that as she approaches the end of her life she is best known as a freak. Had Dr. Mary remained in skirts she would not have done any better work, but she might have been more favorably known.—Frankfort News Journal.

We have seen little children while running at play, or perhaps on an errand for their parent's, get a fall and bump a head or skin a finger, and when they would go to their parents for a kind word of comfort they would say: "Well, next time look where you are going and don't be so awkward, go long now hush." That child will certainly find out sooner or later that its parents have no love or sympathy for it, and will grow up without any kind feeling toward that parent. But on the other hand let the child come to the parents for advice, and if kind words are spoken the child will never forget it, and will always look with respect on that parent.

Cutlery importers are charged with having defrauded the government. It seems that they shaved Uncle Samuel and didn't let him know anything about it.

Local Theology.

A negro known as "One-Eyed" Walling was, and probably is now, a preacher in Virginia. His ideas of theology and human nature were often very original, as the following anecdote may prove.

A gentleman thus accosted the old preacher on Sunday:

"Walling, I understand you believe every woman has seven devils. Now how can you prove that, I'd like to know?"

"Well, sah, did you ebber read in de Bible how de seben debble were cast out 'er Mary Magdalen?"

"Oh, yes, I've heard of that; but what does that prove?"

"Did you ever hear of 'em bein' cast out of any odder woman, sah?" and the old man assumed a wise look.

"No, I never did."

"Well, den, sah, de odders has sure got 'em yit!"—Youth's Companion.

I was back to see my dear friends last summer and sure enjoyed my visit. I ordered the News while I was there. I like Texas all O. Cheered For Speech in Opening Active
Campaign For Nomination—Quotes
Taft as Opposed to the Majority.
Stands Squarely on His Columbus

The salient passages in Colonel Roosevelt's forceful campaign speech, delivered in Carnegie hall, New York, Wednesday evening, are given below:

The great fundamental issue now before the Republican party and before our people can be stated briefly. It is, Are the American people fit to govern themselves, to rule themselves, to control themselves? I believe they are. My opponents do not. I believe in the right of the people to rule. I believe that the majority of the plain people of the United States will, day in and day out, make fewer mistakes in governing themselves than any smaller class or body of men, no matter what their training, will make in trying to govern them. I believe again that the American people are as a whole capable of self control and of learning by their mistakes. Our opponents pay lip loyalty to this doctrine, but they show their real beliefs by the way in which they champion every device to make the nominal rule of the people a sham.

I have scant patience with this talk of the tyranny of the majority. Whenever there is tyranny of the majority I shall protest against it with all my heart and soul. But we are today suffering from the tyranny of the minorities. It is a small minority that is grabbing our coal deposits, our water powers and our harbor fronts. A small minority is fattening on the sale of adulterated foods and drugs. It is a small minority that lies behind monopolies and trusts. It is a small minority that stands behind the present law of master and servant, the sweatshops and the whole calendar of social and industrial injustice. It is a small minority that is today using our convention system to defeat the will of a majority of the people in the choice of delegates to the Chicago convention.

Not For Recall Everywhere.

My opponents charge that two things in my program are wrong because they intrude into the sanctuary of the judiciary. The first is the recall of judges and the second the review by the people of judicial decisions on certain constitutional questions. I have said again and again that I do not advocate the recall of judges in all states and in all communities. The integrity of our judges, from Marshall to White and Holmes—and to Cullen and many others in our own state—is a fine page of American history. But—I say it soberly—democracy has a right to approach the sanctuary of the courts when a special interest has corruptly found sanctuary there, and this is exactly what has happened in some of the states where the recall of the judges is a living issue. Is it not equally plain that the question whether a given social policy is for the public good is not of a judicial nature, but should be settled by the legislature or in the final instance by the people themselves?

The president of the United States, Mr. Taft, devoted most of a recent speech to criticism of this proposition. He says that it "is utterly without merit or utility, and instead of being . . . in the interest of all the people and of the stability of popular government, is sowing the seeds of confusion and tyranny." (By this lie, of course, means the tyranny of the majority—that is, the tyranny of the American people as a whole.) He also says that my proposal (which, as he rightly sees, is merely a proposal to give the people a real instead of only a nominal chance to construe and amend a state constitution with reasonable rapidity) would make such amendment and interpretation "depend on the feverish, uncertain and unstable determination of successive votes on different laws by temporary and changing majorities," and that "it lays the ax at the foot of the tree of well ordered freedom and subjects the guarantees of life, liberty and property without remedy to the fitful impulse of a temporary majority of an electorate."

This criticism is really less a criticism of my proposal than a criticism of all popular government. It is wholly unfounded, unless it is founded on the belief that the people are fundamentally untrustworthy. This is the question that I propose to submit to the people. How can the prevailing morality or a preponderant opinion be better and more exactly ascertained than by a vote of the people? The people must know better than the court what their own morality and their own opinion is. I ask that you, here, you and others like you, you the people, be given the chance to state your own views of justice and public morality and not sit meekly by and have your views announced for you by well meaning adherents of outworn philosophies, who exalt the pedantry of formulas above the vital needs of human life.

Mr. Taft's position is the position that has been held from the beginning of our government, although not always so openly held, by a large number of reputable and honorable men who down at bottom distrust popular government and when they must accept it accept it with reluctance and hedge around it with every species of restriction and check and balance so as to make the power of the people as limited and as ineffective as possible. Mr. Taft fairly defines the issue when he says that our government is and should be a government of all the people by a representative part of the people. This is an excellent and moderate description of an oligarchy. It defines our government as a government of all of the people by a few of the people.

I am not speaking jokingly nor do I mean to be unkind, for I repeat that many honorable and well meaning men of high character take this view and have taken it from the time of the formation of the nation. Essentially this view is that the constitution is a strait-jacket to be used for the control of an unruly patient—the people. Now, I hold that this view is not only false, but mischievous, that our constitutions are instruments designed to secure justice by securing the deliberate but effective expression of the popular will, that the checks and balances are valuable as far and only so far as they accomplish that deliberation and that it is a warped and unworthy and improper construction of our form of government to see in it only a means of thwarting the popular will and of preventing justice. Mr. Taft says that "every class" should have a "voice" in the government. That seems to me a very serious misconception of the American political situation. The real trouble with us is that some classes have had too much voice. One of the most important of all the lessons to be taught and to be learned is that a man should vote not as a representative of a class, but merely as a good citizen, whose prime interests are the same as those of all other good citizens.

Taft's "Disbelief in the People."

Mr. Taft again and again, in quotations I have given and elsewhere through his speech, expresses his disbelief in the people when they vote at the polls. In one sentence he says that the proposition gives "powerful effect to the momentary impulse of a majority of an electorate and prepares the way for the possible exercise of the grossest tyranny." Elsewhere he speaks of the "feverish uncertainty" and "unstable determination" of laws by "temporary and changing majorities," and again he says that the system I propose "would result in suspension or application of constitutional guarantees according to popular whim," which would destroy "all possible consistency" in constitutional interpretation. I should much like to know the exact distinction that is to be made between what Mr. Taft calls "the fitful impulse of a temporary majority" when applied to a question such as that I raise and any other question. Remember that under my proposal to review a rule of decision by popular vote, amending or construing to that extent the constitution, would certainly take at least two years from the time of the election of the legislature which passed the act. Now, only four months elapse between the nomination and the election of a man as president, to fill for four years the most important office in the land. In one of Mr. Taft's speeches he speaks of "the voice of the people as coming next to the voice of God." Apparently, then, the decision of the people about the presidency, after four months' deliberation, is to be treated as "next to the voice of God," but if after two years of sober thought they decide that women and children shall be protected in industry, or men protected from excessive hours of labor under unhygienic conditions, or wage workers compensated when they lose life or limb in the service of others, then their decision forthwith becomes a "whim" and "feverish" and "unstable" and an exercise of "the grossest tyranny" and the "laying of the ax at the foot of the tree of freedom." That is the old, old doctrine which has been acted upon for thousands of years abroad and which here in America has been acted upon sometimes openly, sometimes secretly, for forty years by many men in public and in private life, and I am sorry to say by many judges; a doctrine which has in fact tended to create a bulwark for privilege, a bulwark unjustly protecting special interests against the rights of the people as a whole. This doctrine is to me a dreadful doctrine, for its effect is, and can only be, to make the courts the shield of privilege against popular rights. Naturally, every upholder and beneficiary of crooked privilege loudly applauds the doctrine. It is behind the shield of that doctrine that crooked clauses creep into laws, that men of wealth control legislation.

"Just Judges Safe."

Remember I am not discussing the recall of judges—although I wish it distinctly understood that the recall is a mere piece of machinery to take the place of the unworkable impeachment which Mr. Taft in effect defends and that if the days of Maynard ever came back again in the state of New York I should favor it. I have no wish to come to it, but our opponents when they object to all efforts to secure real justice from the courts are strengthening the hands of those who demand the recall. In a great many states there has been for many years a real recall of judges as regards appointments, promotions, reappointments and re-elections, and this recall was through the turn of a thumbscrew at the end of a long distance rod in the hands of great interests. I believe that a just judge would feel far safer in the hands of the people than in the hands of those interests.

My remedy is not the result of a library study of constitutional law, but of actual and long continued experience in the use of governmental power to redress social and industrial evils. Again and again earnest workers for social justice have said to me that the most serious obstacles that they have encountered during the many years that they have been trying to save American women and children from destruction in American industry have been the courts. That is the judgment of almost all the social workers I know and of dozens of parish priests and clergymen and of every executive and legislator who has been seriously at tempting to use government as an agency for social and industrial betterment. What is the result of this system of judicial nullification? It was accurately stated by the court of appeals of New York in the employers' liability case, where it was calmly and judicially declared that the people under our republican government are less free to correct the evils that oppress them than are the people of the monarchies of Europe. To any man with vision, to any man with broad and real social sympathies, to any man who believes with all his heart in this great democratic republic of ours, such a condition is intolerable. It is not government by the people, but mere sham government in which the will of the people is constantly defeated. It is out of this experience that my remedy has come, and let it be tried in this field. When as the result of years of education and debate a majority of the people have decided upon a remedy for an evil from which they suffer and have chosen a legislature and executive pledged to embody that remedy in law and the law has been finally passed and approved I regard it as monstrous that a bench of judges shall then say to the people: "You must begin all over again. First, amend your constitution [which will take four years]; second, secure the passage of a new law [which will take two years more]; third, carry that new law over the weary course of litigation [which will take no human being knows how long]; fourth, submit the whole matter over again to the very same judges who have rendered the decision to which you object. Then, if your patience holds out and you finally prevail, the will of the majority of the people may have its way." Such a system is not popular government, but a mere mockery of popular government.

People Will Define "Liberty."

The decisions of which we complain are, as a rule, based upon the constitutional provision that no person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law. The terms "life, liberty and property" have been used in the constitutions of the English speaking peoples since Magna Charta. Until within the last sixty years they were treated as having specific meanings—"property" meant tangible property; "liberty" meant freedom from personal restraint, or, in other words, from imprisonment in its largest definition. About 1870 our court began to attach to these terms new meanings. Now "property" has come to mean every right of value which a person could enjoy, and "liberty" has been made to include the right to make contracts. As a result, when the state limits the hours for which women may labor, it is told by the courts that this law deprives them of their "liberty," and when it restricts the manufacture of tobacco in a tenement it is told that the law deprives the landlord of his "property." Now, I do not believe that any people, and especially our free American people, will long consent that the term "liberty" shall be defined for them by a bench of judges. Every people has defined that term for itself in the course of its development.

Task Is to Strive For Justice.

Friends, our task as Americans is to strive for social and industrial justice, achieved through the genuine rule of the people. This is our end, our purpose. The methods for achieving the end are merely expedients to be finally accepted or rejected according as actual experience shows that they work well or ill. But in our hearts we must have this lofty purpose, and we must strive for it in all earnestness and sincerity or our work will come to nothing. In order to succeed we need leaders of inspired idealism, leaders to whom are granted great visions, who dream greatly and strive to make their dreams come true; who can kindle the people with the fire from their own burning souls. The leader for the time being, whoever he may be, is but an instrument to be used until broken and then to be cast aside, and if he is worth his salt he will care no more when he is broken than a soldier cares when he is sent where his life is forfeit in order that the victory may be won. In the long fight for righteousness the watchword for all of us is spend and be spent. It is of little matter whether any one man fails or succeeds, but the cause shall not fail, for it is the cause of mankind. We, here in America, hold in our hands the hope of the world, the fate of the coming years, and shame and disgrace will be ours if in our eyes the light of high resolve is dimmed, if we trail in the dust the golden hopes of men. If on this new continent we merely build another country of great but unjustly divided material prosperity we shall have done nothing, and we shall do as little if we merely set the greed of envy against the greed of arrogance and thereby destroy the material well being of all of us. To turn this government either into government by plutocracy or government by a mob would be to repeat on a larger scale the lamentable failures of the world that is dead. We stand against all tyranny, by the few or by the many. We stand for the rule of the many in the interest of all of us, for the rule of the many in a spirit of courage, of common sense, of high purpose, above all in a spirit of kindly justice toward every man and every woman.

Breed to the best string of Stock in Kentucky for the Least Money

REX PAULL

This Celebrated young Stallion will make the present season (1912) at our barn at Roley, Ky., for the sum of $12.00 for a mare colt, or $10.00 for a horse colt. Rex Paull is registered 2928 in the American Saddle Horse Breeding Association.

DESCRIPTION: Rex Paull is 16 hands high, a dark bay, with fine mane and tail. He is 5 years old and weighs 1195 pounds.

Rex Paull has defeated more Stallions in the Fairs, as a show horse, than any other horse in this part of the State. His colts won the stakes over the colts of four counties. His colts eleven months old, 700 pounds, and is 14½ hands high.

We insure all colts to get up and suck. Lean retained on all colts. All care taken to prevent accidents, but not responsible should any occur.

ROYAL PEACOCK

At the same time and place we will offer the service of Royal Peacock, who is a combined saddle and harness horse, nine years old, a model in form and action. He is the sire of some of the best colts in Adair county. He will be permitted to serve mares for $7.00. This is a rare opportunity to breed to this horse, as you will probably never have another chance to breed for this small fee. He was sired by Old Peacock, owned by Thompson Bros., Lebanon, Tenn. His first dam was Capt. Harper's blooded mare, by Young Clipper. He will stand on the insure plan, the money due when the colt is foaled or mare parted with, or traded or sold.

BEAUCHAMP

Will make the present season, (1912) at our stable at Roley at $8.00 to insure a living colt all right. BEAUCHAMP is 8 years old, 15½ hands high, black with mealy points, heavy bone and muscle. Beauchamp has proven himself to be one of the best mule Jacks in this part of the State, imparting size and style to his gets. His mules were among the best in the county last year, and brought top prices.

Beauchamp was sired by Ben McFarland's fine Jack and his dam was a well bred Jennet by John McFarland's 16 hand Jack.

Money due when colt is foaled, mare bred to other stock, traded or removed from neighborhood. All care taken to prevent accidents, but not responsible should any occur.

JEFF: This fine Jack will make the present season at the same place, at $6.00 for a mare colt or $5.00 for a horse colt. Jeff is a coal black with white points, and heavy bone and muscle. This Jack has proven himself to be one of the finest breeders in the country. Stock men will do well to see this line of stock before breeding.

Stock will have our personal attention. We will pasture a limited number of mares at $2. per month, or a reasonable price for grain.

A Talking Clock.

The newest timepiece which is shortly to be placed on the market actually calls out the hours, half hours, and quarters, day and night, unless shut off, and will tell you the time to the minute any hour in the night, if you press a little button at your bedside. The works of this remarkable clock actuate a stout belt which runs over a roll connected with a sounding box. Upon this belt, or rather film, the hours, which have been recorded by a phonograph, are impressed by galvanization on a copper plate. The mechanism which moves the hands is connected with the speaking device, and this with a funnel which reinforces the sound and projects it outward through a fine-grated opening attached to the narrow side of the clock. At night a touch on a lever reduces the clock to silence. But if one wakes and wishes to know the time without striking a light, an easily-found button is pressed and the clock immediately states the time. The speech film is practically indestructible and occupies very little space, since, because of its elasticity, it may be wound upon a very small roller.

Glorious News.

Comes from Dr. J. T. Curtis, Dwight, Kan. He writes: "I not only have cured bad cases of eczema in my patients with Electric Bitters, but also cured myself by them of the same disease. I feel sure they will benefit any case of eczema." This shows what thousands have proved, that Electric Bitters is a most effective blood purifier. It's an excellent remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Price 50 cts. Satisfaction guaranteed by Paull Drug Co.

A true marriage is the soul's Eden. It is the visiting place of angels. It is not given to words to express the refinement of pleasure, the delicacy of joy and the abounding fullness of satisfaction that those feel whom God hath joined in a high marriage of spirit. Such a union is the highest school of virtue, the soul's convent where the vestal fires of purity are kept continually burning. May only such happy unions attend the young men and maidens of our vicinity who may even now be planning their wedding garments.

Senator Dixon, Roosevelt manager, stated yesterday that contests would be made in all Southern states against Taft delegates, alleging that the conventions were called and controlled by office holders and were illegal and fraudulent in character.

WED. APRIL, 3, 1912.

Editorial, New York Evening Post March 15, 1912:—What is Mr. Taft going to do about the Ray case? The question becomes more pressing with each day's testimony (before the Helm Committee). Yesterday, for instance, a former Paymaster General, C. C. Sniffen, admitted that he had on one occasion "succumbed" to the political influence brought to bear upon him, and sent Major Ray back to Chicago to his party work, contrary to the rules and interest of the service. I admit it, he said, "with shame. He described his indignation when Brig-General Edwards of the Insular Bureau cabled him from Manila asking that Major Ray be sent back to the United States for political duty. After he had served only two months of his two years tour in the Philippines, I had my own opinion, said General Sniffen, as to the value of an unreliable Army Officer to a Presidential aspirant.

Today General Edwards is to testify further as to the reasons why he took from the War Department official records, the property of the United States, and concealed them in his house, and why he feared that Adjutant General Ainsworth might use them to injure Mr. Taft, Will Mr. Taft permit General Edwards to retain his office? Will he permit Major Ray to be promoted? Will he make an example, confess his faults, and stop this sort of thing once for all? Or will he conclude that the best thing is to drop the matter so far as Congress will let him.

The Taft followers controlled the Indiana State Convention, which was held at Indianapolis, by a majority of 105. The four delegates selected were instructed to vote at the Chicago convention for the President for re-nomination. The Roosevelt forces held an independent convention, selected four delegates, who will go to the national convention to contest the rights of the Taft delegates. In New York Mr. Taft had everything his own way. Out of the ninety delegates he secured eighty-three.

Senator Lorimer, of Illinois, won out before the investigating Committee, and he will hold his seat in the upper branch of the national Congress. The Committee decided that in the former trial the Senator was given his seat, and that he could not be tried twice for the same offense.

A favorably report on the bill to repeal the Canadian reciprocity law, exempting section 2, relating to wood pulp and print paper, was authorized by the Senate Committee last week.

There will be something like one hundred more delegates in Chicago convention than there were in the last one held.

New Mexico Legislature elected two Republican United States Senators last week—Albert P. Fall and Thomas B. Catron. The former is a native of Frankfort, Ky., the latter a native of Cynthiana, Ky.,

From the tone of the papers Hon. Champ Clark is rapidly gaining favor, and many believe and so express themselves, that he will be the Democrats nominee at the Baltimore convention for President.

Hon. Champ Clark is evidently gaining as a Democratic candidate for the Presidency. The Kentucky Democratic Representatives in Congress are said to be solidly for him.

Col. Roosevelt stated at St. Louisville that he would not bolt the national convention if he was not selected as the Republican nominee.

Senator Bob Taylor, of Tennessee, known over the world as a writer of sunshine, is dead. The end came in Washington Sunday.

To the Citizens of Columbia and Vicinity.

Why not let us have a lecture course next year? It seems to me that we ought to provide something in the way of high-class entertainments that would be both entertaining, educational and thoroughly elevating in nature. We have other forms of entertainment.

Why not this kind? A good course could be secured at a nominal expense. There ought to be in Columbia and vicinity at least two hundred persons who would purchase season tickets. This would provide a course of four or five numbers, consisting of two or three high class lectures, a strong musical number, and an evening with a first class impersonator, cartoonist or magician. Now, how does a winter course of entertainments such as here suggested strike you? It seems to me that this is just the thing. Let us begin now to plan for such a course next year. But we must begin now. Come, let us hear from you. Here is my hand and heart in the matter. Will you help in the good cause of giving our people something that is uplifting, and that will put us in the class of the progressives in this line as well as in educational and business affairs in which we rank so well. I am interested in the matter. Are you?

One of the most startling changes ever seen in any man, according to W. B. Holsclaw, Clarendon, Tex., was effected years ago in his brother. Now he is sound and well and weighs 218 pounds. For many years our family has used this wonderful remedy for Coughs and Colds." It's quick, safe, reliable and guaranteed. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Roosevelt Club.

A Roosevelt club of 40 members was organized at the Court-house in Columbia on last Saturday night March 30. Judge Junius Hancock was elected chairman and G. P. Smythe Secretary. A number of enthusiastic speeches were made by citizens present, after which the following resolutions were adopted:

"Whereas, The members of the Columbia Roosevelt Club, being honest and fearless Republicans, having the welfare of the country, the common people and the Republican Party at heart, and being unwilling to be controlled and dictated to by the professional politicians and office holders: Be it Resolved,

"That we hereby pledge ourselves to support Ex-President Roosevelt in his heroic and courageous fight for the people against the office-holders who, backed by mal-effects of great wealth, and aided by the professional politicians are attempting by force, fraud and corruption to force upon the people the renomination of President Taft.

"We deplore the hard times and business depression through which the country has gone during the present administration and especially do we deplore the hard lot that has fallen to the working man and those depending upon him.

"We condemn as a fraud and a farce the so called New York Primary, where only one of every twenty Republicans had the privilege of voting. The result of it is not the will of the people.

"We condemn the present administration for its flagrant and unwarranted use of Federal Patronage for political purposes, and condemn the office holders for their attempt to renominate Taft over the wishes of the people.

"We point with pride to the peaceful and prosperous administration of Theodore Roosevelt from 1901 to 1908, and long for that great friend of the people to return to power. The people want Roosevelt, the country needs Roosevelt and the Republican party must nominate Roosevelt or meet defeat in November.

"We call on all true Republicans of Adair County, who cannot be bossed controlled by the town politicians, and who want to return to Roosevelt and better times, to come to the convention at Columbia, next Saturday and vote for Roosevelt.

"That a copy of these resolutions be published in the Adair County News."

The Debate.

The Frogge Literary Society and the Columbia Debating Society of the Lindsey-Wilson had their annual debate on Saturday night, Feb. 23rd. There was the usual intensity of interest and excitement among the students, each society and its sympathizers being sure of an easy victory over its opponents. The subject for debate was "Resolved: That it would be better for the United States to prohibit immigration entirely than to deal with it in the present way." Chas. Diddle and Clarence Strange, representatives of the Frogge Society, had the affirmative. Dick Weldon and J. W. Nelson, representatives of the Columbia Debating Society, had the negative. These young men all did great credit to themselves and to their respective societies by their speeches, fighting each point to the last ditch with a full determination to win or fall with their faces to the enemy. As each speaker closed he was vociferously cheered by his partisans, and had the audience been permitted to decide the question it would have been divided half and half. The judges, only being three in number, were able to come to a decision, two in favor of the negative and one for the affirmative.

Before the arrival of the speakers the two societies from opposite sides of the house whiled away the time by good-natured cheering, singing and geying each other. After the speakers had taken their seats and Prof. Neilson had assumed his place as chairman for the evening, the audience stood and was led in prayer by Prof. Paul Moss. Immediately following that Miss Cary Rosenfield played a piano solo. Then came the debate in regular order. While the judges were out making their decision a beautiful quartette "In the Shadow of the Carolina Hills" was given by Misses Milliken and Crockett and Messrs. Catron and Hill. Also Miss Loretta Dunbar gave a very interesting reading, "Come Here." After this the decision was rendered and many hearts made glad but an equal number were saddened.

The judges were: Messrs. Horace Jeffries, Paul Smythe and Prof. J. D. Farris.

Mrs. G. W. Staples' millinery store was visited by many ladies last Wednesday. There were many handsome hats on exhibition, the display being exceedingly attractive. The spring styles are very much liked by the ladies of Columbia, and if next Sunday, which will be Easter, is a bright day, many will be seen at churches.

Monday was county court and many representative farmers were in town. There were several mule buyers here and a number of mules changed hands, prices ruling high. Sam Burdette, of Lebanon, who has been trading in this market for some time, was quite successful in buying.

Ad Astra Entertains.

The members of the Ad Astra society of Lindsey-Wilson entertained the members of the Philomathes society on Friday evening March 29. It was a very formal affair and very beautifully carried out. The guests were met at the door by little maid, Miss Mary Fleming Neilson, who received their cards. They were then conducted to the receiving line, at the head of which stood Miss Ollie Crockett, president of the society, who in her turn presented them to the guest of honor, Miss Alice Walker, and so on to all who stood in the line. After every old acquaintance had met every other old acquaintance, the guests scattered out over the room to engage in a book contest, which consisted in guessing the names of books from certain pictures. The contest resulted in a tie between Miss Regina Russell and Miss Milliken, but Miss Russell got the shortest straw and was awarded the prize. Miss Walker was then presented with a guest prize, which consisted of a little rabbit and a nest of little Easter eggs. This was followed by the refreshments, which it is unnecessary to say were highly enjoyed by all. After this, was a music contest in which the contestants were to guess the names of several pieces of music, by hearing a small part played. A number tied in this contest, but Miss Elsie Coy was the lucky one in the casting of lots, and received the prize.

The sitting room was beautifully decorated in purple and green, the old Astra colors, and the room for refreshments was decorated in yellow and white, the colors of the Philomathes society. In the center of the sitting room was placed a booth prettily arranged, for the serving of frappe. The guests were given violets and daffodils for souvenirs. Every body spent a very enjoyable evening, and another landmark of the happiness of ones school days was left in the minds of all.

How to be Certain of Curing Constipation

Prejudice is a hard thing to overcome, but where health is at stake and the opinion of thousands of reliable people differs from yours, prejudice then becomes your menace and you ought to lay it aside. This is said in the interest of people suffering from chronic constipation, and it is worthy of their attention.

In the opinion of legions of reliable American people the most stubborn constipation imaginable can be cured by a brief use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You may not have heard of it before, but do not doubt its merits on that account, or because it has not been blatantly advertised. It has sold very successfully on word of mouth recommendation. Parents are giving it to their children today who were given it by their parents, and it has been truthfully said that more druggists use it personally in their families than any other laxative.

Letters recently received from M. E. Myers, Morrison, Tenn., and Ada Hamersmith, 118 W. Chestnut St., Louisville, Ky., are but a few of thousands showing the esteem in which Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is held. It is mild, gentle, non-gripping—not violent, like salts or cathartics. It cures gradually and pleasantly so that in time nature again does its own work without outside aid. Constipated people owe it to themselves to use this grand bowel specific.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. E. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

Campbell Cantrill is now the Democratic nominee for Congress in the Seventh district, having defeated those of his enemies who tried every method at their command to retire him. We are not a great admirer of Congressman Cantrill, but we deem him quite as good timber and a far better Democrat than many of those who have tried to bring about his undoing, and we are really glad that he "laid them all in the shade" so nicely. Now let his enemies prove themselves Democrats worthy the name by coming to his rescue in November next and returning him to Congress by an increased majority.—Somerset Times.

Fertilizer Wastes.

Farm manure always has been and without doubt always will be the principal material used in maintaining the fertility of the soil, but it is an unquestionable fact that the greatest source of loss to American Agriculture today is in the enormous waste of farm manure.

If corn were worth $1.05 a bushel, then the average annual value of the corn crop of the United States for the past ten years would be equal to the average value of the total farm manure annually produced in this country. This statement is based upon the careful estimate of the United States Department of Agriculture, placing the average annual corn crop at nearly 2,500,000 bushels, and the average value of the manure annually produced at more than $2,500,000.

The evidence is sufficient to justify the conclusion, and practical observing farmers will agree that at least one third of the manure produced is wasted on the average American farm. If this is true, then the total value per annum of all commercial fertilizers used in the United States (amounting to about $75,000,000) is equal to only one tenth of the annual waste of farm manure. This is no argument against the intelligent and profitable use of commercial plant foods by those who made and save and use farm manure to the greatest possible practical extent, but it serves only to emphasize the tremendous loss to the country from the waste that is permitted.

A Daily Prayer.

Good Lord, deliver us from the man who tells the story that we were going to tell. From the man who reads the paper to us after we have finished with it. From the people who talk all the time and keep us from talking. From those who tell us things we really ought to do to our self. From all those, indeed, who persist in giving us any sort of advice but that which pleases us. From the old snaggle-toothed woman who has nothing to do but gossip. Also from the landlord who insists upon collecting the rent; from the gas man, from the piano man, the milk man, the ice man and the plumber; from all those, in fact, who persist in trying to separate us from the money which we have not, good Lord, deliver us.

Let a wife and mother love the home and her children, with the most absolute answering devotion, and serve them with the most unselfish fidelity, there are nevertheless times when she is weary. She knows better than anyone else the steps and the stitches, the same things done over and over, and the pettiness the trials that come to the nursery and kitchen. They are so insignificant that she is ashamed to talk about them, and we fear she sometimes forgets to tell her Savior how hard they press her; and so, bearing her cross all alone its weight becomes crushing.

Good housekeeping has more to do with domestic happiness than young lovers dream of. We believe these times need women whose most beautiful work will be done inside their own doors. Without good housekeeping, the romance will soon go out of marriage.

Arizona And The Recall.

The Arizona Legislature threatens to reinsert in the constitution the provision for the recall of judges to which President Taft objected, and which caused a bill for the admission of Arizona to be vetoed by the President.

The Courier Journal aptly observed a few days ago that Hillsville had just witnessed a recall of the judiciary by the Allen Gang. There was something more than jest in the observation. The Allens typified, with exaggeration that merely lent emphasis, the spirit of the mob unrestrained which would operate to make the courts ineffective and ridiculous under the recall system.

President Taft acted wisely in vetoing the bill with the recall provision in it. If Arizona's Legislature wants to amend the Constitution there is nothing apparently, to prevent the Legislature from doing so, but that will not injure President Taft. And in our opinion, if Arizona adopts the recall and President Taft remains in politics there will be no better campaign capital in his record as a public man than the veto of the Arizona admission bill puts the experience of Arizona with the recall of judiciary adopted despite that veto and after the State became a State under a bill without the provision to which he objected.—Frankfort News Journal.

The father returns to his home after a weary day at business. He is tired in body and mind. Coming back, as his latch-key turns in the home door he throws off care; he is joyous at the thought of the dear ones he will meet after hours of absence. 'Hat Is In The Ring'.

The derivation of Theodore Roosevelt's now famous phrase, "My hat is in the ring," has puzzled many people.

A man who was in Ashland, in the Kentucky mountains, when Mr. Roosevelt made a speech there in 1900, has what he believes is the answer.

After the speaking, when Mr. Roosevelt was leaving the grove where the crowd had gathered to hear him, his way was blocked by a raw-boned, six-foot youth, who had obviously been partaking freely of the wine of the country.

This fellow scratched a circle in the dirt with his toe, took off his tattered coonskin cap and dropped it inside the circle.

"I'll kill anybody who picks up the hat, he said.

And he produced a big blue-steel revolver.

There was an immediate scattering of the crowd.

From a safe distance everybody watched the mountaineer swaying about his hat and brandishing revolver.

Then the Sheriff walked out to him and laid his hand on his shoulder and said:

Pete, there's only one man in the county dares pick up that hat.

Show me him," demanded Pete. "Yourself," said the Sheriff, with a flattering smile. Pete picked up the hat, and a minute later was in handcuffs.

Mr. Roosevelt was much impressed. But, said the man who told the story, "I have no great expectation that Sheriff Taft can work any such diplomacy on T. R.—Chicago Journal.

While in conversation with Mr. D. C. Wheeler, on the produce subject, one day last week, he the remark that his wife had sold on this market, since the first of January, one hundred and twenty dozen eggs, besides what they used at home, in addition to six or eight hens sitting and also a lot of young chickens. Doubtless there are several other families in this section has done likewise. The produce trade at this place is enormous and we are glad to have it.

There are a few things going on in this neighborhood that your reporter has had a delicacy of mentioning through the News. We are only sorry for the many readers of the News to know that we live in a community where such people exist, but doubtless this is true. When people get so low down in society and so hard up for something to wear, that they have to go and steal clothes off the clothes line, and go to the tobacco fields and take the canvass off the beds, the public ought to know it. This has been done in this community. The losers have an idea where it has gone. The tracks of the parties were plainly seen, and if this continues in this community as it has been for the past week or so, it is very easy to procure the services of some blood hounds and locate the guilty ones, and then let them abide by the consequences. We hope a thing of this kind will never occur in this section again.

Mrs. Geo. E. Nell is spending this week by the bedside of her mother, Mrs. John Rose, of the Nell community.

We are glad to note that Mr. S. A. Harper, who has been dangerously sick for the past two weeks, is improving at this time.

One of our dear friends and neighbors, Mrs. Vina Buchanan, sweetly fell asleep in Jesus, on Wed., morning Mch., 20th. She was a victim of lung trouble and had been sick quite a while. She bore her suffering with great fortitude. She had a sweet disposition and was loved by all who knew her. She realized her time had come and was perfectly submissive to the Father's will. She leaves a companion and two little boys, also many loved ones and friends to mourn her loss. Let us all prepare to meet her where there will be no separation.

On March, 2nd Mr. Mack Clemens had a sale disposing of all his property. He and his family went to Indiana, stayed over night and returned home.

Mr. Owen McKinley and Miss Stella Long and Miss Emma Grider visited Miss Pollie Belk, last Sunday.

Now, as the gentlemen have expressed themselves in regard to the compulsory school law, so will this correspondent. Mr. Taylor's views are good and we could present him similar scenes to the ones he mentions on Casey Creek and near Glenville, if he will but come with us on a tour through Russell, or any other county.

But first, we believe the compulsory law should be for the teachers. We do not wish to insinuate on the teaching profession, but simply want to state fact. It seems to us that the judgment day of the scallawag, who is in the teaching profession for the draw, for the existence that it makes possible and for a job rather than for the privilege of service has arrived, and that it is the professional duty of all progressive teachers, (and there are many of them in our splendid Commonwealth) to join in the great movement to eliminate the deadheads from the profession. It is an inspiring work to assist in kindling a fire under the feet and digging a professional grave before every sluggard in the teaching profession. No individual has a right to remain in the profession unless he is willing to assume the great responsibility of training the youth and to prepare for his chosen work.

It is hard to think of a crime that is higher than a professional dishonesty and indifference that rob the child, our noblest possession and the future generation, of a training he is inherently entitled to receive.

Behind every great school lies a great soul, constructive burning personality of a great teacher. The school will never rise above the teacher, in one sense it is what is in the mind of teacher, pupil and layman. It follows, however, that what is likely to appear in the life of the layman and pupil first appears in the life of the teacher. The teacher is inherently the leader of educational thought in the school community, and if he is weak in leadership there is not likely to be a good school in the community. The community that pays a goods salary and demands a good teacher pursues a wise policy and one that will secure educational results. So long as friendship, kinship and other items that frequently influence the selection of a teacher enter into the organization of a school rather than a desire to secure educational efficiency we shall not have properly taught school. The interest of the children of a community is infinitely higher than that of any individual, and true patriotism will put the interest of the children above that of the applicant's individual interest.

Has stood the test of time and has been improved in quality with the passing years.

Many brands of paint are offered for sale and quite often careful scrutiny is not given the subject with reference to the quality of the paint to be used.

EXPERIENCE IS A GOOD TEACHER. TEST THE QUALITY.

It is a good idea to learn the composition of the paint you intend to use. There is a difference.

The printed formula appears on every package of Hanna's Green Seal Paint.

This is an evidence of good faith and attests the confidence the makers have in their product.

Nearly all the Fair Associations in the State have agreed upon dates and are making preparations for the coming meets. The trouble with the Columbia Association in the past has been, that it waited until about five or six weeks before the date before preparations were begun—not time enough to properly advertise the Fair.
